● The Las Vegas Metropolitan Area

The City of Las Vegas covers a land area of 135.9 square miles. In addition to Las Vegas, the city's metropolitan region includes North Las Vegas, Boulder City, Henderson, Mesquite, and a large number of unincorporated communities.

The downtown area of Las Vegas, known as Glitter Gulch, is characterized by long-established casinos. It is the site of the Fremont Street Experience: a renovation project completed in 1995 that was designed to revitalize the downtown area and attract more people to the area's casinos. This five-block stretch of Fremont Street is a covered pedestrian mall, where thousands of lights play out animated scenes overhead. In addition to the casinos and attractions downtown, more are located on the world-famous Las Vegas Strip.

Slightly south of downtown, The Strip is a 4.5 mile long, neon-lined portion of Las Vegas Boulevard. Some of the extravagant casinos on The Strip play on epic Hollywood themes, while others advertise beautiful landmarks, such as an Egyptian pyramid, a medieval castle, the New York City skyline, the Eiffel Tower, and even an erupting volcano. Ever-grander casinos open each year and draw in patrons with even more interactive entertainment such as world-class performances from Cirque du Soleil, Broadway musicals, Venetian gondola rides on the Grand Canal, zip lines, free shows, and even theme parks with world-renowned rollercoasters.

Outside the city lies Southern Nevada's "hidden jewel" of outdoor scenery, trails, and attractions: Mt. Charleston, Red Rock Canyon, the Valley of Fire, the Hoover Dam, and Lake Mead, which was created by the dam.

● Population Statistics

Many people who live in Las Vegas moved from California. On average, the migrants from California make up roughly one third of Las Vegas' newcomers. These citizens have and continue to make essential contributions to Las Vegas, such as growth in home construction, landscaping, residential security, and manufacturing. According to the 2010 census, the population of the Las Vegas Metropolitan Area has dramatically increased throughout the 20th and 21st centuries; it has risen by at least 41% per decade since 1960, when the population was only a mere 167,000. Between 1990 and 2000, the Las Vegas Metropolitan Area was the fastest growing metropolitan area in the entire United States. As a result, the 2010 census registered an estimated population of 1,951,269 and the projected population in 2020 is approximately 2,700,000.

● Climate

Even though it is extremely hot in the summer, Las Vegas has one of the best climates in the United States. Las Vegas is known for its “dry” heat days because it has very low relative humidity when compared to the rest of the country. Low humidity is not the only benefit; the temperature stays warm throughout the whole night, so for most of the year, everyone can enjoy a night out on The Strip without worrying about cold weather. Another appealing aspect of the climate is that Sin City also enjoys sunshine on approximately 298 days per year and a low average annual rainfall of 4.05 inches. Lastly, one of the best reasons to move to Las Vegas is that other than wildfires, it has not experienced any large-scale natural disasters for more than 150 years, including hurricanes, tornadoes, and major earthquakes.

● History of Las Vegas

In the 19th century, Las Vegas was once an important stop along the Old Spanish Trail between Santa Fe, New Mexico and Southern California. The oasis allowed Spanish traders to shorten their route to Los Angeles by following streams and resting at springs; the grave alternative was to travel through Death Valley. Rumors of a lush valley began to widely circulate in 1829 and generated lots of interest from potential settlers and travelers. In 1844, an explorer named John C. Fremont camped in the Las Vegas Valley and wrote about his time there. A.D. Hopkins of the Las Vegas Review Journal wrote in 1999, “...it was John C. Fremont who literally put Las Vegas on the map.”

In 1885, missionaries from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (the Mormon Church) began settling in the Las Vegas Valley. Their position also served as a link to California and the Pacific Ocean. The coming of the railroad in 1905 industrialized the area and an era of growth ensued. In the early 20th century, Nevada passed laws that allowed divorce after only six months of residency in the state. By 1931, the requirement was reduced to six weeks and Las Vegas gained a reputation as an easy place to get a divorce.

Population growth accelerated in the 1930s because of two monumental events in 1931. First, the Bureau of Reclamation began constructing the Boulder Dam (known today as the Hoover Dam) on the Colorado River. The second event was the beginning of a new era; The State of Nevada legalized gambling. The dam's construction and operations were responsible for a surge in job opportunities, lots of federal funding, and most importantly, the two driving forces that allowed Las Vegas to become a large city: Lake Mead and the gaming industry.

At the time, Lake Mead was the world's largest man-made lake. Today, it is still a source of clean water and a colossal hydroelectric power plant. The gambling created even more opportunities for aspiring businessmen to open casinos and create opportunities for work.

A major milestone in 1945 that spurred the casino-construction fever came to fruition when an infamous gangster named Bugsy Siegel created the most bombastic resort and casino that the world had ever seen: The Flamingo. Going forth, construction boomed after World War II and Las Vegas became a land of hotels, casinos, world-class restaurants, and entertainment of all kinds, ranging from risqué acrobatic shows to family-oriented theme parks. Today, Las Vegas lays claim to six of the world's 10 largest resort hotels and continues to grow.

● Why Southern Nevada?

- Low cost of living
- No personal income tax
- No corporate income tax
- No state income tax
- Widely varied job opportunities
- Best economic growth in the United States over the last two decades
- Avg. daily high temp 80°F; Avg. daily low temp 58°F with sunny days 85% of the time.

Residents frequently take advantage of lesser-known, abundant recreational activities and artistic venues. Southern Nevada has more than 60 golf courses, 200 official recreational areas, approximately 30 museums, and more than 100 art centers and cultural organizations.

Southern Nevada is also family-friendly. Education is a high priority and there are many schools in the valley. As of 2017, Clark County School District is the 6th largest school district in the country. Forbes consistently ranks the City of Henderson as one of the best and safest large cities in the United States to raise a family. Ironically, even though Las Vegas is known as “Sin City”, Southern Nevada is home to roughly the 20th highest ranked US city in places of worship per capita. As of 2015, there were about 2,800 residents per place of worship.

The Las Vegas Metro Chamber of Commerce (LVMCC) is the largest business organization in Nevada. Founded in the early days of Las Vegas as a city, the LVMCC had and continues to have a strong legacy of protecting and strengthening the community of businesses in Southern Nevada by helping them grow and thrive. The LVMCC also provides a voice for businesses to the local, state, and federal governments.

The LVMCC implements business-building programs, an annual calendar with more than 100 networking events, and cost-saving programs. In order to ensure that a business-friendly environment continues in Southern Nevada, the LVMCC also provides exposure via its website and in the Business Voice (the LVMCC's monthly magazine).

In December of 2012, The Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce revised its name to the LVMCC in order to show their desire to reflect its valley-wide focus as well as recognition that the region has grown into a true metropolis. Currently, the LVMCC has about 6,000 associated businesses from nearly every industry and represents more than 200,000 people.

● Chamber History

Here are some major accomplishments and milestones of the LVMCC throughout its 100+ year-long legacy. For a more comprehensive look at some of the LVMCC's success in developing and protecting the Las Vegas Metropolitan Area's businesses, please visit www.chamber100.com.

- 1929 Work on the Boulder Dam (Hoover Dam) breaks ground. LVMCC leaders, including its founding members, are in discussions and negotiations to ensure that the dam's construction will give Southern Nevada a major economic boom.
- 1931 LVMCC officials campaign to lift the ban on gaming. Mayme Stocker's Northern Club is officially the first casino to receive a Southern Nevada gaming license.
- 1933 After receiving heavy pressure from the LVMCC leaders, the federal government opens the first post office in Las Vegas.
- 1941 The LVMCC and Senator McCarran provide instrumental leadership and resources that ensure the opening of the US Army Air Corps Gunnery School. The school is in the space that will later become McCarran International Airport.
- 1945 The LVMCC's president, Maxwell Kelch, launches the Livewire Fund to promote Las Vegas as a desirable destination for tourists from all over the globe. The Livewire Fund also serves as an instrumental resource that creates the Desert Sea News Bureau, which will eventually become the Las Vegas News Bureau. Charles "Pop" Squires writes in the Las Vegas Age newspaper to rally support for the Livewire Fund, "All businessmen should join in the campaign to spread the fame of Las Vegas to every part of the country in preparation for the vast surge of travel which the end of the war will start."
- 1947 The LVMCC, as part of its initiatives through the Livewire Fund, commissions the West-Marquis Firm, a West Coast-based advertising agency, to design an advertisement campaign that will attract tourists. The original design is the iconic "Vegas Vic", which inspires the famous neon signs that will eventually be seen on Fremont Street. Vegas Vic and his tagline, "Howdy podner [sic]", become one of the most recognizable symbols of Las Vegas.

- 1955 The LVMCC brings the Better Business Bureau and United Way of Southern Nevada to the valley in a citywide effort to increase community stewardship.
- 1960 As the popularity of the jet plane grows and United Airlines advertises service to Las Vegas, the LVMCC realizes that not only is the airport too small to accommodate a substantial increase in passengers, but also, the runways are not long enough to provide a safe takeoff and landing area for the jet plane. As time passes, the want for a larger airport becomes an urgent economic necessity. The LVMCC holds a board meeting to endorse the large airport in an effort to pass in an election and help McCarran International Airport become one of the busiest airports in the entire United States.
- 1983 Community leaders and LVMCC members, including the future LVMCC president, Mark Smith, create Las Vegas Events so that more people who don't gamble will want to come to Las Vegas as well.
- 1998 The LVMCC successfully pushes forward a new passed regulation that allows $3.5 million of school bonds to pay for school construction and renovation.
- 2009 The LVMCC publishes landmark studies on public employee pay and benefits. Once again, they heavily influence another legislative passage of comprehensive reform measures to help reduce the state's potential future budget liability and shortfall.
- 2012 The LVMCC steps up as the Southern Nevada Water Authority proposes an increase in consumer water pricing to make up for the cost of the third intake pipe from Lake Mead. The LVMCC testifies that such an increase could have a lasting, devastating impact on local businesses. Convening businesses, Southern Nevada Water Authority officials, County Commissioners, and the LVMCC successfully fight to create a 50% reduction on the increased rates of fire meters.
- Another big victory for the LVMCC comes to fruition when the designation of Interstate 11 becomes official. Interstate 11 will connect Mexico to Canada and travel through Phoenix, Las Vegas, and Reno.

● Relocation to Las Vegas

Declining unemployment, an expanding skilled-labor force, an exceptional tax structure, a pro-business environment, and a great climate have made Las Vegas a desirable place to relocate.

The population explosion in the 80s and 90s resulted in great opportunities to open new businesses and create more jobs. Over the last decade, job diversity has expanded, with more focus away from the gaming industry.

Since tourism generates nearly one-third of the state's annual tax revenue, business owners are not subject to corporate income tax, personal income tax, franchise tax, inventory tax, or unitary tax on the state level.

If you are planning to relocate, Las Vegas should be at the top of your list of desirable places to live. The Las Vegas Metro Chamber of Commerce extends a warm welcome, inviting you to get to know our residents, become involved in commerce, and call Las Vegas your home.

● Employment Cards/Certification

If you are hired in a food and beverage or childcare position, you must obtain a health card from the Clark County Health District. If you are hired in the hotel or gaming industries, you are required to collect a Sheriff's Work Card. For more information about obtaining a Sheriff's Work Card, please call (702) 828-3271, or for a health card, call (702) 759-1099.

● Clark County School District

The Clark County School District (CCSD) has always placed a strong emphasis on providing its students with a great education. Today, CCSD and its schools continue to win national recognition and awards. The current enrollment in CCSD exceeds 320,000 students. CCSD services a very large area, including Las Vegas, North Las Vegas, Henderson, Boulder City, Indian Springs, Mesquite, Laughlin, Searchlight, Sandy Valley, and rural areas in Clark County.

As of 2017, by number of students, CCSD is the 6th largest school district in the United States. In terms of size, CCSD ranks 24th in the US at almost 7,900 square miles. If you took out all 17 of the top 25 largest school districts in Alaska, the first five largest districts in the US, would all be in Nevada and CCSD would be ranked 7th in size behind one district in Oregon. 351 schools are in CCSD: 216 elementary schools, 59 middle schools, 49 high schools, 19 alternative schools, and 8 special schools. CCSD is also the 2nd largest employer in the State of Nevada.

Children between the ages of six and 17 years are required by Nevada law to attend school. Under a new state law, to enter first grade, a child must either attend a state-approved kindergarten program or pass a development test. Picking the right school for your child is of utmost importance. From kindergarten through college graduation in Las Vegas, here are some valuable tips and information that apply to parents and students.

● Enrollment

Children must be five years old on or before September 30th to enroll in kindergarten in CCSD. When enrolling your child in school, you must have two forms of proof of residence (utility bill, lease/rent receipt, sales contract, etc.), the child's official identification records (original certified birth certificate, passport, or certified birth card), and immunization records. Any previous school records showing placement in special classes or programs, a recent report card showing the name and address of their former school, their most recent achievement test scores, and/or any certified official information about special health conditions will expedite the enrollment process and ensure proper placement.

● Immunizations

Painful as it may be, in order to enroll in CCSD schools, all school-age children must be up to date on all of their immunizations. Kindergartners need five DPT (Diphtheria, Pertussis, and Tetanus) vaccinations, four Polio vaccinations, and two MMR (Measles, Mumps, and Rubella) vaccinations. For students who are new to Nevada schools, whether entering into an American school for the first time or transferring from another state, the requirements are two Hepatitis A shots (second dose must be given at least six months after the first dose), three Hepatitis B shots (must have a minimum of four months between the first and third dose), and two Chickenpox (Varicella) shots (there must be two or more months between the shots and the second shot is only required if first shot was given after the age of 13 years). The Health Department also offers Hepatitis A and Chickenpox vaccinations for a $15 administration fee. All parents can take advantage of these opportunities at any time. Matriculating college freshmen also need to get Tetanus and MMR boosters.

● Special programs

CCSD offers a wide range of specialized programs to meet the diverse needs of its student body. Bilingual and English as Second Language (ESL), reinforced reading, and Gifted And Talented Education (GATE) programs are available. Every high school has an honors program and offers Advanced Placement classes. Valley High School and Green Valley High School also offer International Baccalaureate (IB) classes, which give students the opportunity to simultaneously receive high school and collegiate credits.

37 career and technical academies and magnet schools are offered in addition to the regular curricula. 10 of these schools are elementary schools, another 10 are middle schools, and the last 17 are high schools. Some of these schools specialize in areas such as the performing arts, international studies, travel and tourism, math, science and communications, and aerospace technology.

Relocating to Your Oasis in the Sun

Moving can be an exciting experience. It is also ranked among life's most stressful events. Whether you are relocating across town or across the country, with the proper planning and preparation, your move can be smooth. Local Realtors® can also be of invaluable assistance.

A good way to reduce stress is to develop a calendar that starts six weeks before your move. This calendar will serve as the “countdown” to moving day.

● Six weeks before the move

- Take an objective look at what you own and decide what must go and what can be left behind.
- Contact moving companies for estimates. Be aware of cost and ask them what they will do to make your move as smooth as possible.
- Get an estimate from your mover on the cost of letting the company professionally pack all or part of your belongings; the time and effort you save may be worth the cost.
- Organize a garage sale if you have a lot of things worth selling.
- If you have decided to let your mover pack for you, separate what you want to keep from what you plan to sell, give away, and/or throw away.
- Contact your realtor, chamber of commerce, and visitor's bureau of the city you are moving to within the valley for information on schools, parks, maps, etc. If you would like to see even more details, please contact your realtor and ask for a Ticor Title Buyer/Seller guide.
- Create a central file for all of the details of your move. Keep receipts for moving expenses; they may be tax-deductible.
- Create a floor plan of your new home and think about where you may want to place the furniture. Label specific pieces of furniture on your diagram and place the plan in your moving folder.

● Five weeks before the move

- Select your mover and meet to discuss dates and costs.
- If you decide to pack by yourself, you will need to gather boxes. Your mover can provide boxes designed for moving, including special containers for clothing on hangers, lamp shades, mirrors, etc.

● Four weeks before the move

- Notify the post office, magazines, credit card companies, friends, and family of your change of address. The US Postal Service offers a kit to make this process easier. You can obtain a change of address kit online at www.usps.com.
- Contact utility companies to schedule the start of your services at the new destination for the day before you arrive. Make sure to also schedule the disconnection of your current services for the day after you move.
- If you plan to move large appliances, ask your mover to schedule disconnection and servicing a few days before the move.
- If packing by yourself, begin with seldom-used items. As you pack, remember to keep each box light enough to be handled by any family member. Heavy items go in small boxes and light items go in larger boxes.
- If you are planning a garage sale, pick a date at least one week before the move and advertise it locally.

● Three weeks before the move

- Take inventory of your everyday household goods. Decide which items you will discard or store.
- If you are packing by yourself, make sure you are now packing with a sense of urgency and doing so at a quicker pace than before.
- Do not forget your critical documents, such as driver's licenses, identification cards, birth certificates, social security cards, passports, voter registration cards, and the like.
- Contact doctors, dentists, and veterinarians for medical records and update your information on their files.
- Plan food purchases carefully so that you can get rid of all perishables by the time you leave; this could save the hassle of panicking to clean a full, dirty refrigerator and freezer at the last moment. It also avoids wasting valuable food and drinks.
- Arrange to have your home professionally cleaned.
- If applicable, contact your children's schools and arrange for records to be forwarded to the new schools.
- Go to your bank and change all necessary information on your accounts. If applicable, this is also a good time to make new safe deposit box arrangements.

● Two weeks before the move

- Contact insurance companies to cancel policies or arrange to change your address on file.
- If applicable, make arrangements for transporting pets and plants.
- Arrange to transfer the address on file with your pharmacy.
- Cancel delivery services or arrange to change the address on file.
- Service your vehicles.
- Empty any hiding places, remove valuables, and remove or destroy spare house keys.

● One week before the move

- Mow your lawn for the last time.
- Dispose of toxic or flammable items that cannot be moved. Drain fluids from gas-powered tools and appliances.
- Pack your "trip kit" with necessary items that you want to go in your car and not the moving van.
- Plan to take important papers, jewelry, cherished family photos, mementos, and files with you. If you have young children, make arrangements for a babysitter on moving day. Also, arrange for a babysitter to be available when you arrive at your new home.
- Pack most of your clothes as desired.
- Pay outstanding bills and put your new address on any receipts.
- Remove fixtures you are taking with you and replace anything that needs to be replaced.

● One to two days before the move

- Finish emptying and defrosting the freezer and refrigerator.
- Finalize the payment arrangements to the moving company.
- If you are selling your property, leave a forwarding address and phone number for the buyers of the house you are selling.
- If your old house will be sitting vacant, notify police and neighbors.

● Moving Day

- Remove linens from the beds and pack in an "open first" box.
- Review every single detail and paperwork with the movers when they arrive.
- Double-check with the professional cleaning service and make sure they are still coming over tomorrow to clean the property and finalize payment arrangements with them.

Las Vegas Review Journal/
Las Vegas Sun 702-383-0211

Las Vegas is an important distribution and transportation center because it is centrally located in the southwest quadrant of the United States. Easy access to California, Arizona, and Utah have helped make Las Vegas a primary warehouse destination for several large corporations.

On the ground, an endless plethora of semi-trucks travel along the highways. The main highways that run through Las Vegas are I-15 between Utah and California, US 95 to get to and from Reno and down to Laughlin, I-215 (which becomes CC 215), which is a beltway around the valley, and US 93, which travels south past the Hoover Dam to Arizona and north through the east side of the desolate valleys in central Nevada; it goes on for hundreds of miles all the way up to Elko in the north and ultimately to Idaho. Limousine and taxi services are available at all times. The public bus service in the valley is provided by the Regional Transportation Commission of Southern Nevada (RTCSNV).

When it comes to air travel, Las Vegas is a very popular destination for the vast majority of domestic and international airlines that operate in the United States. As of 2017, McCarran International Airport is officially the 26th busiest airport in the entire world. Private aviation in the valley is serviced at McCarran, the North Las Vegas Air Terminal, and the Henderson Executive Airport.

● Driver's License and Vehicle Registration

To get a Nevada driver's license, you must relinquish your out-of-state license, take an eye exam, pass the written exam, and pay a $26 fee ($18.25 if you are 65 or older). Most Nevada driver's licenses are valid for 8 years and cost $42.25. New residents and people who move from one part of the valley to another have 30 days to transfer out-of-state licenses and/or change their address on file.

● Registering Your Car

To register your car in Clark County, you must pass a smog check exam from a certified inspection station; new cars and electric vehicles are exempt. Necessary documents for registration of all newly-owned cars include title (unless held by a lienholder), a vehicle inspection certificate from the DMV, an Evidence of Insurance card that is valid in the State of Nevada, an odometer reading, and your license plates. Documents required for cars that are not new also include a smog certificate and the vehicle's current registration certificate. There are two exceptions in this process: The first is if you are renewing your registration and the second is if you already live in Southern Nevada and are purchasing a used car that has been sold only by dealerships in the State of Nevada. For the newly-purchased used vehicle, you will need title, the VIN (vehicle identification number), license plates, an odometer reading, and evidence of insurance. If you are renewing your registration, all you need to do is pass a smog exam and record an odometer reading. If you qualify for either of those exceptions, you can skip the tedious and inconvenient task of visiting the DMV and register or renew your car's registration online.

● Insurance Information

Nevada law requires drivers to carry vehicle insurance that is issued by a state-licensed insurance agency. The minimum requirements are insurance that covers $15,000 for injuries, $30,000 per person in one accident for vehicle damage, and $10,000 for property damage. You must always keep a proof of insurance card in your vehicle. The fine for driving without proof of insurance in your vehicle can be as high as $500.

• Preliminary Elections

In Nevada, for most non-presidential candidates vying for votes at any level of government, closed primary elections are held at privately organized and party-specific (exclusively Democrat or Republican) events. For presidential elections, Nevada does not have primaries. Instead, Nevada has caucuses. Like the closed primaries, all caucuses in the United States are held at privately organized and party-specific events.

In order to participate in Nevada's primaries or caucuses, residents must already be registered to vote and officially affiliated with either the Democratic Party or the Republican Party (in states where open primaries occur, anyone who is eligible can vote in any primary election). The purpose of the caucuses is to elect local delegates to go to one of the corresponding county conventions. In the county conventions, delegates are selected to represent each of the 17 counties at the Nevada State Convention, which then leads to delegates representing Nevada at the Democratic and Republican National Conventions.

In the Democratic Party's caucuses, votes are openly cast by voters gathering into a candidate's "preference group" and then they are each counted as present. In the Republican Party's caucuses, a "straw poll" takes place in the form of an anonymous ballot with each voter's choice written in or checked. The votes are then counted by hand. For both parties, the citizens' votes are not the ultimate determining factor in which candidate receives the official votes, because the delegates make the final decision. The delegates almost always vote for the most popular candidate from the state that they represent. Then, the most popular candidate from each national convention represents their entire party as an official candidate for President of the United States in the General Election.

• General Elections

In all general elections, the remaining candidates are listed on ballots and the elections are facilitated by the government. In Nevada, if you are not voting by mail, you can vote at any one of the specially assigned voting locations within your precinct. Since some candidates and referenda (also called ballot questions) only apply to electoral subdivisions outside of the ones you live in, there are some Nevadan candidates and ballot initiatives that you cannot vote for, but you can vote for all ballot initiatives and candidates that directly represent and/or apply to you. Voters can make choices that apply all the way from the district level (county commissioners, judges, assemblymen, etc.) to the city (mayor of Henderson or Las Vegas), the State of Nevada (ballot initiatives, judges, state and federal legislators, the governor, etc.), and the President of the United States.

Qualifying voters can send ballots in the mail as early as six weeks before Election Day. Another way to vote early is to go to an "early voting" location a few weeks before Election Day; everyone else must vote on Election Day. Election Day always occurs on the first Tuesday after November 1st. At early voting sites and on Election Day in Clark County, voters must enter a designated room and present a valid government-issued identification document to receive a card that can be entered into a voting machine. Voters then cast their votes for candidates and referenda by using a voting machine. Almost all non-presidential candidates are elected by popular plurality or majority, but there are some exceptions, for instance, some candidates do not have opponents.

• Voter Registration

To register to vote in Clark County, an applicant must be a U.S. citizen, 18 years old by the next election date, living at their only principal residence, living in the state and county for at least 30 days, not declared mentally incompetent by a court of law, and within their precinct for at least 10 days before the election. To receive an application by mail, you can call, write, or fax a request to the Clark County Election Department at (702) 455-8083. Mail-in applications are available at most government buildings, such as libraries, the Clark County Election Department, post offices, or the Department of Motor Vehicles. You may also register in person at the Clark County Election Department or the Department of Motor Vehicles. For more information on elections and voting in Nevada and Clark County, please visit either the election section at the Nevada Secretary of State's website (<http://nvsos.gov/elections>) or the election section of Clark County's website (<http://clarkcountynv.gov/election>).

Senior Citizens...What a Wonderful World We Have For You!

Since the early 1980s, Southern Nevada has become one of the leading sunbelt retirement destinations. The Las Vegas area offers some of the best weather available in the United States, 24-hour entertainment, low cost of living, a very favorable economic base, a wide variety of recreational opportunities, quality healthcare, and a location with easy access to the Southwest and the World. With this steady growth of new senior residents, there have been a number of organizations and programs designed with the senior in mind. The latest census survey showed there were more than 267,000 retired persons living in Southern Nevada.

The AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED PERSONS (AARP) is a valuable source of information and resources for members and the community.

Las Vegas is one of the fastest growing cities in the United States. It is also home for many prominent conventions, events, and even family vacations.

Las Vegas has something to please everyone and it is usually available 24 hours a day. There is a saying in Las Vegas: If you do not find what you are looking for, please wait one moment; it is probably already under construction.

Casinos/hotels in Las Vegas seem to know no boundaries in their creativity and grandiose projects. The owners' imaginations appear limitless. Six of the top ten largest hotels in the world are here and stand within a five mile radius of each other. Las Vegas is also the convention and resort headquarters of the world. There are over 100,000 hotel and motel rooms available in the Las Vegas area.

OTHER BORDER RESORTS

Mesquite - 80 miles (130 km.) northeast of Las Vegas; 1,171 rooms; three major hotel/casino resorts, Oasis Resort Hotel, Virgin River Hotel-Casino and Casablanca Resort & Casino. Activities include golf, tennis, sporting clays, health spa, and western ranch.

Primm - Three major casinos. Whiskey Pete's, Primm Valley, and Buffalo Bill's. The three resorts are linked by monorail. The town primarily functions as a hotel hotspot for weary travelers along I-15. Primm is about 45 minutes away from Las Vegas and it has a very small population, but it is an attractive gambling, shopping, and entertainment destination for locals.

The Primm Fashion Outlets is a shopping mall with all of the same up-to-date fashion trends as everywhere else, but it offers much lower prices than the same high-end stores in urban locations. Literally, Primm is the next-door neighbor to a clever business: The Lotto Store. In order to protect the state's gaming industry, the lottery's presence is not legal in Nevada, so there is a small lottery shop and convenience store that lies less than 100 feet across the California border. Believe it or not, if the parking lot is full because of a rush to buy tickets when the lottery reaches a high value, you can walk across the California border from the shopping mall's parking lot and arrive at the building in less than five minutes.

Even though the previously mentioned features of Primm have a lot of appeal, the most impressive attraction of all is a small theme park that is known for a world-famous, legendary rollercoaster: Desperado, which travels in and outside of the Buffalo Bill's casino. When Desperado opened in 1994, it was the tallest and fastest roller coaster in the United States. In 1996, it was listed in the Guinness World Records as the tallest and fastest roller coaster in the entire world. Two surprising features of the ride that most people do not know about are that it still has the 10th longest roller coaster track in the world (more than a mile long) and it lasts for almost three minutes.

Jean - About 25 minutes outside of Las Vegas on the way to Primm and California. The Gold Strike Casino is adjacent to I-15. During the week, rooms are $40 per night. It also has a 5 cent arcade for children and a RV park.

Arizona Border - Once you pass Boulder City and Lake Mead on US 95, you will come across a casino known as Hoover Dam Lodge. It is located three miles from the Hoover Dam and it is also the first casino travelers see if they are coming from Arizona. The hotel rises 17 stories high, has 372 rooms, and overlooks Lake Mead.

LAKES

There are two major lakes in Southern Nevada: Lake Mead and Lake Mohave. Both of the lakes are prime locations for fishing and the marinas provide boats, fishing equipment, and gear for other water sports. In less than three hours, you can visit other lakes in Utah that are known as some of the best freshwater fishing hotspots in the Contiguous United States.

Licenses are required for anyone who hunts or traps wild animals in Nevada. Children who are 12 to 14 years old must be accompanied by an adult when hunting with a firearm. Children under 12 years old are not allowed to hunt with firearms, however, they may accompany an adult who is licensed to hunt.
